Time revolution

it's time for artificial intelligence, IoT and blockchain.

Nowadays, with the development of 5G commercialization, blockchain and artificial intelligence technology are becoming more and more mature, and IoT is moving from “connectivity” to “intelligence”, while artificial intelligence is moving from “cloud” to “edge”. The world has gradually entered a digital intelligent society in which everything perceives, connects and relates. In the junction of IoT and artificial intelligence, here emerges the AIoT.

Event Introduction

IC360-AIOT

Internet of things solves data production and collection, 5G communication technology solves data transmission and seamless connection, blockchain solves data storage and protection, and artificial intelligence solves data analysis and application. Under the ecology of Internet of things, it has built the best stage for all emerging technologies. 5G, artificial intelligence, Internet of things and blockchain technology will perform together, rather than by a single role, in the era of evolution from Internet of things to internet of intelligence.

The term Intelligent Connectivity 360, or IC 360, referring to “the internet of everything”, is a leading world internet of intelligence conference initiated by blockchain industrial innovation platform The Blockchainer. We will invite the world’s top technology pioneers, preachers, industry frontiers, and entrepreneurs to gather in Shanghai. We aim at building China’s top platform for intelligence industry business connecting the world, and promote the development and application of intelligence industry as to take good advantage of those opportunities.
